Endorsement of Herbert Hoover and Charles Curtis, Republican nominees for president and vice-president, respectively, and Myers Y. Cooper, Republican, and Martin L. Davey, Democrat, for governor, was voted by 75 delegates at the closing session of the annual convention of the Columbiana County Women's Christian Temperance Union at Damascus, yesterday afternoon.

Laud Prohibition Law.
Declaring "Prohibition the best method of dealing with the liquor traffic," the resolution lauds the Volstead act "enforcing the Eighteenth amendment."

Teaching of "scientific temperance that children may learn early the harmful effects of narcotics" was approved. The women also pledged themselves to urge that "every patriotic citizen vote at the November election."

The resolution follows:
"Trusting in the name of our divine leader we raise our banner in this, the 38th annual convention of the Columbiana County Women's Christian Temperance Union and hereby submit the following resolution:

"First, still believing that prohibition is the best method of dealing with the liquor traffic we hereby resolve to endorse for governor the dry candidates—Myers Y. Cooper, Republican, and Martin L. Davey, Democrat; also Herbert Hoover for president, and Charles Curtis for vice-president, that the Volstead act be

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.]

NEW YORK state Democratic convention, waiting for Gov. Smith returning to select candidates, waited wisely.

Gov. Smith chose as candidate for governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, liked and respected by all that know him. For lieutenant-governor, Gov. Smith chose Col. Herbert H. Lehman, very able business man, whose unlimited capacity for work would enable him, if necessary, to relieve Mr. Roosevelt, whose health is bad.

These nominations add strength to the Democratic ticket. Republicans will realize it and work the harder.

NEW YORK CITY has 6,917,500 population, a good-sized city that, in a short time, will change to 20,000,000. Experts show that before this century ends New York and 60 miles of territory around it will have 50,000,000 population, more than all of Great Britain or France.

Machinery, science and intensive cultivation eliminate worry about over-population.

SOME day, New York, where the United States spends its money, will have a real estate boom worth talking about. Land that now sells for $300 a square foot, will sell for $1,000, and be cheap at that price.

GERMANY celebrated Wednesday the eighty-first birthday of Paul von Hindenburg, a great leader and fighter in the war, although he had retired as an old man when the war started. Von Hindenburg has shown himself a capable, powerful, loyal president of the German Republic. A nation is to be envied that can produce such statesmen and fighters as Von Stein, Frederick the Great and Hindenburg.

"I hate all policemen." Those words were the only response to questions asked by Chicago police of Mrs. Ruth Belzer Liakos, 19 (pictured above), wife of Leo Liakos, 22-year-old "youth of a thousand crimes," now charged with two slayings. When accused of being the "gun girl" for Leo's gang, all she said was, "I love Leo."

Urging the need for personal work and pointing out necessary requirements for such a departure, Albert Peterson, advance man for Billy Sunday, roused marked enthusiasm in the forthcoming revival in East Liverpool at the weekly prayer service of the First Methodist Episcopal church last night. His subject was "Christ's Seven Season Prayers."

Brackets for practically all of the tabernacle seats were completed yesterday at the Second and Washington street site. The platform of the large auditorium has been all but completed and roofing is being placed on sections of the structure. Workmen on Tuesday were given a noon luncheon in the First Presbyterian church. They were served by women from the First Baptist and First United Presbyterian churches.

More volunteer laborers will be needed for Friday at the tabernacle. Peterson hopes to have all details completed by Friday night when he will return to Madisonville, Ky., to assist the evangelist in the final weeks of the campaign there.

ROMANCE WRECKED

Woman Planned to Kill Children and Herself.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 4.—Three-year-old Mary Kempf died in a hospital here early today, the victim of poison which the child's mother, Mrs. Anna Kempf, 30, gave her in ice cream last night. The mother also poisoned two other children and herself and all were in a hospital today.

The other two children are Julia, 7, and Margaret, 6.
Poverty-stricken and despondent, the mother decided to kill her three children and herself she revealed at the hospital today.

She and her second husband, Jacob Kempf, were separated three months ago, she said. The child who died this morning was his, while the first husband was the father of the other two.

The distraught woman told police how she bought ice cream and poison for mice at a drug store, returned home, mixed the ice cream with the poison and served it to her children, eating a portion herself.

They were living at the home of her mother, Mrs. Julia Baber, 50, who also ate some of the ice cream and who is also in the hospital, slightly ill. Mrs. Kempf declares, however, that she served untainted cream to her mother.

After poisoning the children, the mother left the house, unable to watch the effect of her act. A neighbor took the three children to the hospital and Mrs. Kempf returned to the house, near collapse, after walking the streets for two hours. She and the two surviving children were seriously ill today, but physicians say they have a chance of recovery.

Hoover and Economist
Discuss Farm Relief

AGRICULTURAL PROBLEM IS COMMON TO ALL OF WORLD, OTTO HOETZSCH, GERMAN REICHSTAG MEMBER, TELLS NOMINEE.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The farm relief problem, which has become a major issue of the presidential campaign, is common to all the rest of the world, Herbert Hoover was informed today by Prof. Otto Hoetzsch, noted economist and member of the German Reichstag.

Hoover and Hoetzsch discussed the farm problem at length and were said to have agreed that the problem of placing agriculture on an economic equality with commerce and industry was the cure for agricultural ailments both here and abroad. The German economist declared the farmers of Europe and Asia were confronted with the same conditions as those of the United States—namely, that they were forced to pay higher prices for manufactured articles than they received for the products of their farms.

FRANK BARNHART
GOES TO PRISON

Frank Barnhart, who is said to have come to Columbiana county last January, was sentenced to serve from one to seven years in the Mansfield reformatory by Judge W. F. Lones in the Columbiana county common pleas court, Lisbon, today after pleading guilty to a charge of larceny.

Barnhart was arrested for the theft of a quantity of ginseng root near East Rochester after he is alleged to have sold it in Canton for $4 a pound. His mother, Mrs. Enaline Barnhart, aged about 70; Curtis Knapp, Michigan City; and James Dovenbarger, Morgan county, companions, were arrested upon the same charges.

The woman was released after promising to leave the county. The indictments against Knapp and Dovenbarger were dismissed after they arranged to make restitution.

Mellow Autumn Day That Poets Gush Over
Graces Premiere of 1928 Baseball Classic in New York Between Winners of American and National League Pennants.

ALL SEATS IN RESERVED SECTIONS
SOLD DAYS AGO; THROG AT GATES

Hugmen, Fighting for Waning Prestige and Depending Upon Ruth and Gehrig, Their Field Artillery, are Not Disheartened Despite Their Disabilities as Gotham Turns Out.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Graced by a mellow autumn day, such as poets gush over but seldom see, and sponsored by a record-shattering crowd, ranging well up toward 80,000, the premiere of the 1928 world series between Yankees and Cardinals was to come down to its momentous decision this afternoon under auspices only slightly less than perfect. All world series openings are something of an inspiration from their dramatic side but this one promised to exceed its predecessors.

It featured a battered, shattered Yankee team, fighting for its waning prestige, against a physically sound, mentally alert rival. It brought together many of the central figures—Alexander, the Cardinals' famous old Pete; Ruth and Gehrig, the Yankee field artillery who fought to the death in the tinging of two years ago. It presented the quite appealing picture of an old campaign which promised to forget its disabilities and make a fight that would fill the eye and gladden the heart.

Dash for Choke Locations.

Even blasé New York couldn't stuff this and so every seat in the 40,000 reserved sections was sold days ago and last night men by the thousand watched and waited at the locked gates that they might "beat the gun" in the dash for choke locations in the unreserved rows.

The Yankees were the first to step out for hitting practice, the business being good for another mixed thrashing from the villagers. Hoyt took his place in the batting cage at the end of the regular order, thus affirming almost officially his Chorio Huggins' starting pitcher.

The left hander caused a momentary stir by stepping out to the warm-up box and floating a couple to Pat Collins but he gave it up—and the watching Cardinals nodded approval of his heads. They haven't forgotten his pitching in the 1926 series nor will they forget it.

Ruth and Gehrig each deposited a couple in the right field stands during the general excitement and George Harper repeated the gesture during the Cardinal workout at the plate.

Ruth Given Ovation.
The Cardinals showed plenty of pep during their fielding practice, Tommy Thevenow, at short, was gobbling up grounders with neatness and dispatch, but the star of the 1926 series was not slated to see action in today's game.

When the Yankees took the field for practice at 1:05, the injured Lazzeri was at second, with Paschal in center and Dugan on third.

Babe Ruth was given a rousing ovation by his public in bleachers when he trotted out to right field.

At 1:15 the Yankees left the field and the ground keepers started giving the infield a final polish. Hoyt and Sherdel began warming up.

REPORT THEFTS OF THREE AUTOS

Thefts of three automobiles were reported to the police last night.

A "flyover" belonging to R. R. McCracken, 1169 Harker avenue which was stolen while parked in front of the McCracken home, was recovered near Calcutta by Thomas Huston, who reported it to police.

Clyde Flanagan, Newell, reported his Chevrolet coupe to have been taken while parked in Jackson street, near Fifth street. It carried West Virginia license number 89-439.

Howard Calhoun said that he had left his Chevrolet roadster parked in Washington street near the Y. M. C. A. and when he returned it was gone. Its license number was 859-519.

MAN FINED $150
ON RUM CHARGE

George Pridmore, Smiths Ferry, was held by police today in default of a $150 fine assessed against him by Judge Hanley upon a charge of transporting liquor.

Pridmore was questioned by Captain Conley in the downtown district at 1 o'clock this morning, when he was acting in a suspicious manner. Conley released him when he promised to return to his home in Smith's Ferry. When he was a few steps from the officer, Pridmore ran east in Fifth street.

Patrolman Richards, in East End, was told to arrest him. Accompanied by Raymond McClure, also of Smith's Ferry, he was captured at Mulberry street and brought to city hall. He told police that his touring car was parked in East Fourth street. Police took the car into charge and found two half pints of whisky in it.

McClure was fined $10 and costs upon a suspicious person charge.

SPECULATORS
REAP HARVEST

Choice Series Seats Retail as High as $125 a Pair.

SPECULATORS—4055 Frankomas NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—World series ticket speculators were garnering their golden harvest along Broadway and throughout the hotel belt today, and as the hours advanced toward game time, so did the prices mount. Reserved seat pastboards are marked in large figures—$16.50—but that had nothing to do with the case. The ducks which had been plentiful at $25 early in the week were regarded as dirt cheap at $35 this morning when the "specs" started trading. In fact choice positions were reported retailing at $125 the pair.

The demand was far in excess of the supply, and an hour before the gates opened, the scalpers were offering $25 a ticket themselves, figuring on a 100 per cent. profit.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as the greatest healing agency for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

CREOMULSION FOR THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Upon the criminal list being disposed of civil cases will be assigned from the active trial list and it is expected that counsel will be ready for trial when cases are reached.

Judge Newcomer, of Bryan, O., has been assigned for the period beginning November 12 and it is especially necessary that all cases to be assigned in his room be ready when called. Counsel in criminal cases should subpoena their witnesses for the day assigned.

Growing Children

sometimes require a tonic as do their elders *

GIVE your child the right chance to develop, and you will not regret it in later years.

Many children become under-nourished due to lack of appetite. Keep the appetite keen. Food nourishes the body and makes it grow.

Also watch Nature's warning for changes in the system. Skin troubles—pimples, boils and that sallow complexion—all foretell a body weakness.

In such cases, S.S.S. is the proper tonic. It improves the appetite; helps Nature build rich, red blood cells—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

In building rich, red blood cells, S.S.S. improves the processes by which the body is nourished.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping children and their elders regain strength and vitality.

* The physical welfare of the child is being given more attention by school authorities. Failure to keep up with class work and absence from school is probably due to a nervousness and rundown condition that may be largely attributed to a deficiency in red blood cells.

Children like S.S.S. It is made from fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants, and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

Bingham, formerly of Lisbon, but now on the Chautauqua platform, gave an address on "The Challenge of Youth."

Routine business, for the most part, was conducted at the meeting of the Columbiana board of education Monday evening. The schools will be closed Friday, October 26, so that the teachers can attend the annual meeting of the Northeastern Ohio Teachers' association at Cleveland. Another day will also be given to the teachers for the annual visiting day, when they will attend schools of other cities.

"Now I Can Walk" Says Mrs. Southcott

"Here is another letter that makes me proud," says Peterson. "One that I would rather have than a thousand dollars."

"It seems like a miracle, but it's true, every word of it."

I know it because I get similar letters almost every day from people who have used Peterson's ointment for old sores, eczema and piles.

"Is it any wonder I am proud?" Dear Sirs:

"I was an untold sufferer from an old running sore and ulcer. I had tried most everything without any relief from pain. A friend told me of your wonderful ointment and the first box took away the pain that had not left me before in years, and after using just nine dollars worth of the salve I am cured. The ulcer was 9 inches by 6 1/2 inches, is all healed and I can walk. Never, never will I be without Peterson's again."

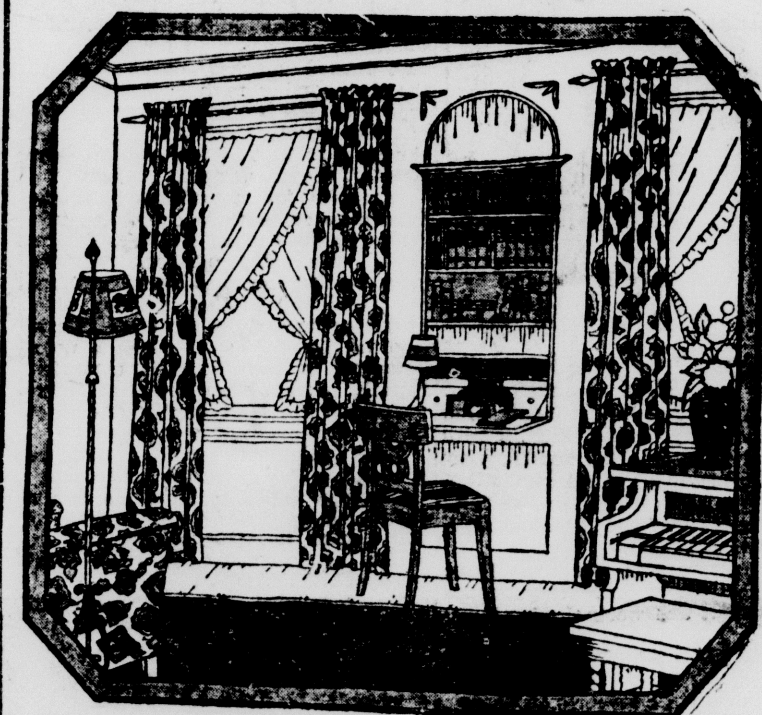

"You may use this to recommend your ointment if you wish. I cannot say enough to praise it." Yours truly, Mrs. Albert Southcott, Lyndonville, N. Y. Generous box 35 cents.

Letters To The Editor

Prohibition and Al Smith.
East Liverpool, O., Oct. 3, 1928.
Editor, Review

Dear sir:

In the communication of Mr. William Sauer, published in your paper on September 22, a question was asked concerning the constitution of the United States.

Article 1, Section 51, says: "Each house shall be the judge of elections, returns and qualifications of its own members." For this reason many men are not seated in office to which they were elected. When either house thinks they were elected through fraud or for other reasons, an objection is raised.

Article 63 says: "No religious test shall be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States." There is nothing in the constitution which forbids a man to hold office because of his religious beliefs.

The carrying-out of the constitution and the laws of this country depends mainly on the cooperation of the state and local officers with what aid federal officers can render. The government of the United States does not take over the policing of the states and cities, so, therefore, the blame for conditions rests on state and local officers.

I do not agree with the statement that a non-religious person is a Protestant or a Catholic. These people will tell you they are Protestant, Catholic or Jew whether they belong to church or not. I would advise that you talk to Mr. Sunday on his statement that "Al Smith is a Catholic in a Protestant country."

Now in regard to Al Smith and what has happened in New York. Mr. Smith for four times has held up his hand, taking the oath of office as governor of the largest state in the union. He has sworn to support the constitution of the United States and at the same time has signed bills removing laws from the statute books of the state which if enforced would uphold that part of the constitution which refers to the Eighteenth amendment. He would lower the immigration bars to Latin Europe and flood this country with a foreign element which would back him in his campaign for modification. What does the foreigner care for the Eighteenth amendment in our constitution?

I cannot express it any better than to give you the published comments of the Rev. John G. Roughtt, pastor of the St. Anthony's parish, Newark, who was recently penalized $539.58 for undeclared goods and liquors which were found in his trunk when he returned from Italy to New York on September 20. Commenting on the liquor, the priest said: "I never touch it myself but it is necessary to have it on hand for sick calls and in case a friend drops in." It is no sin to drink or have liquor in one's possession but it is against the laws of the country. There you have the reason for the majority of the violators of the liquor laws.

When we had saloons did the liquor dealer obey the closing hour at night or on Sundays? Did they obey the laws which forbid selling to minors or any other law unless they were compelled to? They never did obey the law so why change it now?

This letter has been delayed through no fault of the writer.

Let every voter be sure to register October 4, 11, 19 or 29 if he wishes to vote at the November election.

Yours respectfully,

FLOYD LONG.

Have You Enrolled?

East Liverpool's interest in the November 6 election, when the nation will elect a president and Ohioans will elect state and county governments, will be determined to a great extent by the enrollment of voters today, the first day of quadrennial registration.

All old registers were discarded and new books issued to the Republican and Democratic registrars, in compliance with the election laws, as the registration booths were opened in the city's 23 precincts at 9 o'clock this morning.

This means that every man and woman who has attained the voting age of 21, or who will become of age on or before balloting day, must sign the register in order to qualify for the privilege as well as the duty of voting.

If you failed to enroll during the forepart of the day, visit the precinct registration place tonight. Registrars will be on duty until 10 o'clock.

Failure to register means disfranchisement.

Mexico's New Chief

When President-elect Obregon was assassinated in July, Mexico's neighbors to the north were generally under the impression that the Mexican republic was in a very muddled political condition, that retrogression had set in, and that it was probable a military man with the full support of the military element of the country would be chosen to restore order.

And to the surprise of people of this country at a joint session of the senate and the chamber of deputies, a civilian has been chosen to head the Mexican government. The selection was unanimous by ballot. Customarily one thinks of Mexico as the center of disputes and bickering.

Interesting as these generalities are, they dim before the figure of Portes Gil, the man. Nobody could be imagined less reactionary than he. Portes Gil represents a progressive type rare in politics, and for whose match one would have to search long in this country.

In the first place the new president is a young man, only 37. For anyone to achieve such distinction as he has obtained at that age is in itself remarkable. One marvels further to learn that Portes Gil rises at 6 every morning and takes vigorous exercises; that he neither smokes nor drinks. Those facts will mean much toward changing the opinion of citizens of the United States regarding Mexico.

Equally interesting is the record of Portes Gil's public life. His rather complete education includes attendance at the University of Mexico Law school; he entered the chamber of deputies at the age of 26; he was governor of a Mexican state when 29; he has been director of national railways and chief of the department of military justice in the ministry of war; and he has been a supreme court magistrate.

Portes Gil's public acts will also set citizens of the United States toward thinking of Mexico in a new light. He has actively identified himself with child welfare work; he has opposed gambling and drinking; he is strongly in favor of freedom of the press, organization of labor and agriculture; reform of civil and penal codes, and establishment of agricultural schools. Such is the man who will guide the Mexican government until Feb. 5, 1930. His presence at the head of the state should mean the development of the friendly relations between Mexico and the United States.

English Railroads

Word comes back from Europe that the party of American railroad representatives who crossed the Atlantic to get first-hand knowledge of the standards of rail travel there have been greatly impressed by the excellence and comfort of the English passenger service and particularly by the splendid roadbeds, which they freely admit are superior to any roadbeds in this country. Not only were they surprised by the luxury of the equipment of the fast English trains, but they also were amazed by the smoothness with which they traveled at speeds of 75, 85 and even 90 miles an hour.

Even with the wonderful resources possessed by this country, we can hardly hope ever to attain the splendid roadbeds found in England. English railroad distances are short compared with ours and England is thickly populated. The longest railroad distances in Great Britain are the runs from London to Edinburgh, 400 miles, and London to Glasgow, 402 miles, while the distance from New York to San Francisco is 3,180 miles. In England the railroads are fed by populous cities and towns. Every few miles is a thriving city or town.

But there is one decided advantage possessed by English roads which we might possess, an advantage which enables them to maintain schedules which are here impossible—or if not impossible, at least impracticable—that of no grade crossings. All English trains pass over or under road crossings, and the fast trains are sent through cities and towns on elevated tracks. The trains do not have to slacken their speed in passing through population centers and thus lose time, and the engine crews do not have to suffer the strain caused by the thought of possible accidents at crossings as ours do in America. The present generation may not see crossing elimination here in the United States, but if the railroads endure as a means of transportation, and it may be expected that they will so endure for generations to come, the time will arrive when crossings will be eliminated in this country and then our trains may be run under conditions more nearly even than those which at present obtain. Until that time comes, the English trains will naturally have a speed advantage over the American.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 4.—Prior to September, 1796, the political opponents of George Washington accused him of wanting to be king and intending to perpetuate himself in the presidency for life. At that time he announced his refusal of a third term and the fight between Adams and Jefferson began. Backing Adams were the Federalists led by the shrewd and vigorous Hamilton, and with eight years in power back of them. Backing Jefferson was Madison, the great constitutionalist, and the growing Democratic-Republican party.

Nominations were made by caucuses of the members of congress of the rival parties, as they were the only political groups which naturally came together, and transportation problems precluded conventions. Pinckney was named for vice president with Adams and Burr with Jefferson, but the Democrats were not fully organized, and in several states others than Burr were supported, while a few vital voters were destined to be diverted from Jefferson to other Democrats.

The issues were numerous, including Hamilton's plan for the United States bank which Jeffersonians declared unconstitutional and a surrender to the money power. Hamilton's program also called for the federal government's assuming the debts of the several colonies, in addition to the debts of the continental congress. The revolutionary soldiers were bitter on this score, because they had been largely paid off in paper notes which they had cashed with banks and speculators at a few cents on the dollar. Now Hamilton proposed to redeem them at full value, enriching the speculators and money powers. The wealthier colonies objected to assuming the debts of the poorer, New England having suffered heavily in the war and being deeply in debt, while Virginia and other states were relatively debt free.

The federalists adhered to the strong central government plan, while the Democrats stood for the fullest measure of state rights. Adams and Hamilton were accused of copying everything British.

Jefferson wanted popular elections and universal suffrage. Hamilton had the established legislative machinery better organized, and wanted to mold rule. Both sides had their pamphleteers and newspapers, and the violence of attack on character was far worse than anything in modern history. Democratic extremists suggested the need of a guillotine for tyrants and named Washington as the worst of these.

Jefferson was equally assailed in vilest fashion, denounced as an atheist because of his authorship of the Virginia bill of religious liberty, accused of cowardice during the revolution, and portrayed as a person of low personal morals.

Hamilton kept a cool eye on practical things and organized steadily where the results would tell. He knew the dubious points in the constitutional plan of election and had observed that in 1792, for instance, the governor of Massachusetts had protested that no authority could compel him to certify the choice of electors if he didn't like them or choose to certify their credentials. Hamilton also knew that the constitution barred officeholders from being named electors, but he knew there was no power to enforce that proviso. He knew that several electors had been sick and absent in the past, and saw to it that none of the Federalists should be missing this time or if they were that the electors present in the state should fill the vacancies. Although the Democrats in Pennsylvania were accused of spending too much money for handbills and pamphlets, Hamilton probably had the larger funds and spent them more wisely.

The French ambassador injected his views into the campaign, much to the detriment of Jefferson whom he favored. This episode lost ground for the Democrats in New York and New England.

Adams secured 71 electoral votes, Jefferson 68, Pinckney 59, and Burr 30. Virginia gave 15 to Samuel Adams instead of Burr. Samuel was a fiery Democrat in his Federalist council John's own state. The result made Adams president with his greatest rival vice president. Thirty-three votes were for scattering names.

Several amendments were proposed to the constitution to simplify and clarify the method of electing a president, to prevent the situation where one party had the president and another the vice president, and to assure uniform and honest elections. Nothing could be agreed upon. A new problem was due to frighten the young republic at the next election, but any improved election methods must wait for hind-sight to name the remedy.

Adams forced the policy of appointing only adherents to his party to office but Jefferson, also in a post of some power, did much political fence-building, and in 1800 there would be just as able machinery and generalship on his side as Hamilton had used against him.

Turning Back Pages of Memory

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—There are some 3,000 persons in New York who walk in darkness. Few cities are more thoughtful of the blind. Among several institutions to aid them is the New York Lighthouse for the Blind on East 59th street.

Here those who suddenly find themselves groping in eternal night are comforted and aided in becoming reconciled to their fate. They are also taught trades that make them self-supporting, and learn their greatest comfort of all—the Braille system of reading.

It has been noticed that those stricken blind and take an interest in living in from four to six weeks. During that agonizing interim they usually sit about in abject dejection as one physically and mentally stunned.

Oddly enough, there is almost always a law of compensation in operation for the blind. Those who have become accustomed to their affliction are invariably smiling and happy. They have a keen zest for the theatre and other public amusements and are especially fond of music.

On First avenue near 34th street is a several-story brick building which houses The Blind Men's Club. Here they come during leisure periods to converse, play games, read and otherwise fraternize just as people do in the average clubs.

Two blind beggars, known as Damon and Pythias, cross 42nd street every morning arm in arm, separate at the library corner to go to their stands. Shortly before dusk they meet there again and tap their way home to Third avenue. They are always chatting happily.

There is a superstition among the blind people it is bad luck to pass a blind man without dropping a coin in his cup, and consequently most of those who seek alms do so at posts along the Rialto. If one doubts Broadway's generosity he has only to ask a blind man.

An unusual sightless character in New York's midtown is Blind George. He was born blind and has been able to support himself and his wife comfortably conducting a newspaper kiosk. For years he held forth in Herald Square, and one morning he came to work and found his stand must come down that day for a new building.

Two days later he was the owner of a larger and better stand on a Bryant Park corner—a tribute to the quick helping hand of Broadway in distress. Not one donor gave his name.

Blind George knows his customers by voice and calls them by name. Men who have been away for a year or more return to his place and are instantly greeted by name. He is a cheerful soul and a fount of gossip of Broadway and its doings.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—There are some 3,000 persons in New York who walk in darkness. Few cities are more thoughtful of the blind. Among several institutions to aid them is the New York Lighthouse for the Blind on East 59th street.

Here those who suddenly find themselves groping in eternal night are comforted and aided in becoming reconciled to their fate. They are also taught trades that make them self-supporting, and learn their greatest comfort of all—the Braille system of reading.

It has been noticed that those stricken blind and take an interest in living in from four to six weeks. During that agonizing interim they usually sit about in abject dejection as one physically and mentally stunned.

Oddly enough, there is almost always a law of compensation in operation for the blind. Those who have become accustomed to their affliction are invariably smiling and happy. They have a keen zest for the theatre and other public amusements and are especially fond of music.

On First avenue near 34th street is a several-story brick building which houses The Blind Men's Club. Here they come during leisure periods to converse, play games, read and otherwise fraternize just as people do in the average clubs.

Two blind beggars, known as Damon and Pythias, cross 42nd street every morning arm in arm, separate at the library corner to go to their stands. Shortly before dusk they meet there again and tap their way home to Third avenue. They are always chatting happily.

There is a superstition among the blind people it is bad luck to pass a blind man without dropping a coin in his cup, and consequently most of those who seek alms do so at posts along the Rialto. If one doubts Broadway's generosity he has only to ask a blind man.

An unusual sightless character in New York's midtown is Blind George. He was born blind and has been able to support himself and his wife comfortably conducting a newspaper kiosk. For years he held forth in Herald Square, and one morning he came to work and found his stand must come down that day for a new building.

Two days later he was the owner of a larger and better stand on a Bryant Park corner—a tribute to the quick helping hand of Broadway in distress. Not one donor gave his name.

Again?

A day that might have meant so much—and she has to be excused. What a pity there's a woman left who does not know of Midol! One or two tablets in time, and not a twinge of pain throughout the menstrual process. Or an end to such suffering at any time, five to seven minutes after Midol is taken. Yet this merciful medicine is non-narcotic. Its wonderful results are due to the fact it acts directly on the organs affected; so it's utterly harmless, and it is only common sense to use it. Midol comes in a clever little case of aluminum you can slip in the smallest purse. And the cost of this comfort is fifty cents.*

*Midol's comfort is not confined to any certain days or age. It relieves at any time of life. Its ease is felt immediately in cases of nervous headache, backache, cramping, hot flashes and all febrile pain peculiar to women.

Chamber Will Decide Today on New Plant

Meeting of Officers Scheduled at 12:30 in City Hall Rooms; Will Need $10,000 to Get Deal Under Way.

WELLSVILLE, O., Oct. 4.—Having investigated assets and possibilities of the Zenith Airway's company, of Uniontown, Pa., seen its product in a practical demonstration and completed other preliminary negotiations for bringing the plant to the city, Wellsville Chamber of Commerce officers were to reach the crux of the situation at a meeting at 12:30 p. m. today in the chamber rooms when they were to make a definite decision. If the chamber decides to bring in the plant, it will be necessary, officers of the organization declare, to raise $10,000 today.

Monte Ruble, engineer who designed the Zenith P-1, holds an option worth that amount on assets of the company which at present is backed financially by a Uniontown capitalist. The company's assets, chamber officials point out, are valued at $25,000 at the present time.

If a decision is made to go ahead with the proposition and the $10,000 is raised, it would then be necessary to obtain $90,000 additional to launch the industry, it is explained.

Letters owned by E. J. Martsoff, industrial engineer, indicate that 27 other communities are bidding for the Zenith plant.

Two local chamber of commerce representatives have completed an investigation of the Uniontown concern and report that representations made by its officers are true.

Assets of the company at present include one finished plane, two in process of construction, and machinery and equipment.

The proposition was outlined and discussed thoroughly at the business banquet of the chamber last night in the Riverview hotel.

C. J. Voeg, president of the chamber, was chairman. Possibilities of the plane plant were advanced by Martsoff and Ruble.

BAKER, BURTON DEBATE WHITE HOUSE RACE

Two Thousand Voters Hear Discussion in

LAUD CANDIDATES
References to Tammany
Hall and Boss
Vare.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 4.—The political campaign was boiling up merrily here today, warmed by the oratorical fire from two of Ohio's most eloquent campaign speakers, who met in a Smith-Hoover debate last night.

The speakers were Newton D. Baker, secretary of war under President Wilson, and Theodore E. Burton, congressman and former senator.

Baker, high in state and national Democratic councils, characterized Governor Smith "a great, vibrant personality, a man with a feeling for humanity, a man with idealism."

Burton, venerable Republican and the veteran of a half-century of political campaigns, referred to Hoover as "the man who was savior of stranded Americans in the war zone, head of the Belgian relief and food administration."

Both debaters paid tribute to both candidates as men of outstanding ability and honesty.

"I don't like Gov. Smith's connection with Tammany Hall," Burton asserted.

"How about Boss Vare whose influence threw the nomination to Hoover when the more respectable element was against him?" countered Baker.

The speakers agreed that religion should not enter into the campaign. Baker assailed Mabel Walker Willebrandt for taking the campaign "into the pulpits," and referred to her facetiously as "Mrs. Firebrand."

More than 2,000 persons crowded into an East Side auditorium to hear the debate and both speakers received much applause.

STEWART PERJURY TRIAL POSTPONED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The perjury trial of Col. Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, today was postponed from October 8 until November 12 by Justice Jennings Bailey of the district supreme court.

Stewart, charged with perjury in connection with testimony before the senate Teapot Dome committee, was indicted two weeks after he had been acquitted of a charge of contempt on June 14.

A government motion to postpone the trial until after election was recently rejected. However, Justice Bailey today set the trial back because of a crowded docket and the illness of three justices.

Sunday's Aide Speaks

night with Will T. McNutt, chief usher for the coming revival.

Prayer is vital to the success of any revival, Peterson said. "Communion with the Almighty is vital for soul-seeking and soul-saving power. One to be a personal worker must be emptied of self and filled with the Holy Spirit. A preponderance of interest and loyalty to worldly things is inimical to the presence of the Spirit of the Most High. And the absence of the Spirit, no matter what the standing and the capacity of the personal worker renders him incapable of functioning as one seeking to save those that are lost."

He urged that church members awake to their responsibilities and the potentialities which the revival quickly will develop.

Attends Nazarene Services.

As during all of his former public appearances Mr. Peterson was given a cordial greeting by his hearers at the conclusion of his address.

During every opportunity that has been his with his numerous conferences and the work of erecting the tabernacle, Peterson has been attending the revival now being held at the First Nazarene church in St. Clair avenue.

"The gospel message is being powerfully presented at this meeting," he said. "I was edified by my attendance. May great good attend the efforts there being made."

farm problem in their acceptance speeches.

"The agrarian question is the same all over the world," said Hoetzsch. "The farm problem is the most acute and important problem facing a dozen different nations. It is very difficult to ascribe reasons for this universal condition."

"The trouble seems to be that the income received by the farmers for what they produce with their hands does not measure up to the level of what they have to pay for their other needs, such as machine-made goods. It is the same here as in Germany, Russian and southeastern Europe. It is not a question of over-production so much as a question of providing a low cost of distribution, so that the farmer can get a greater share of the actual selling price."

Hoover Ready for Tennessee Trip.

Hoover meanwhile continued to handle campaign matters at his headquarters. He has completed his Elizabethton, Tenn., speech, which he delivers Saturday afternoon. He will leave here tomorrow night for Tennessee, returning in time to go to church here Sunday morning.

The nominee has not yet begun work on either his Boston or New York speech. He told callers he hadn't even selected a subject for the Boston address, although the New York speech will be drafted to rally his party in the Empire state.

ALCOHOLIC drinks under prohibition are various. In the south, "white mule," powerful alcohol made of corn, is popular.

In the middle west, "needing" beer is drunk by workmen. It is "legal" beer, originally containing no alcohol, but brought up to a highly alcoholic percentage by "needing" it with alcohol, procured by redistilling denatured alcohol bought at gasoline stations.

New York speakseasies, surrounding newspaper and other plants sell "smoke," a deadly alcohol with a little ether added to give the cloudy, "smoke" effect. This drink is well described as follows: "Three shots and you know nothing until the next day."

DOCTORS IN New York discuss "How to Fight Old Age"

Dr. Vincent says doctors "concentrate on old people after they are ill, instead of keeping them well."

Luigi Cornaro solved his problem, starting at 40, when given up to die by doctors. He lived to 102, mounting his horse without assistance at 95, and wrote to the Pope: "I had to live to be 90 years old to know that the world is beautiful."

He limited his diet to 12 ounces of solid food and 14 ounces of light Italian wine per day. Think how long he might have lived if he had eliminated the 14 ounces of wine and substituted 14 ounces of good, pure, healthy, sparkling, ice water.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE and Post- master General New deserve public thanks for constant development of the air mail.

On Monday morning a Fairchild mail plane left Hadley Field, N. J., driven by a 400-horsepower wasp motor. Stopping at Albany on the way, it delivered mail in Montreal before noon the same day.

Thus the air mail started between this country and our good Canadian neighbors.

P. J. Veniot, Canadian postmaster general, congratulated the American airmen, said Canada would catch up with the United States in aerial postal service. That is the competition that should exist between nations, friendly and constructive.

T. R. Preston, president of the American Bankers' association, suggests: "A world-wide association of bankers, to promote fuller comprehension of difficulties that beset every country."

Bankers might start with difficulties besetting Americans paying 7 1/2 to 10 per cent interest.

If New York banks would combine with banks in Paris, where the call money rate is 2 1/2 per cent, that would bring the average down considerably, and thousands of blessings would fall on Mr. Preston's head.

France is the only country in Europe whose present birth rate shows an improvement on pre-war figures.

SMITH RESTS BEFORE HOP TO BORDER STATES

Democratic Nominee Will Close Campaign in East.

TRIP INTO SOUTH
Cleveland Probably Will Get Place on Itinerary.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 4.—No one realizes more keenly than Governor Smith the importance of the border states to the Democratic cause in the forthcoming November election.

Consequently he is giving very careful personal attention to the business of deciding upon the second major speaking trip of his campaign. He has just completed his first trip. The west is behind him, the border country next, which leaves the wet and populous east to the end of the campaign.

It is the border states' schedule that is occupying most of Governor Smith's attention while he is snatching a few days' rest this week in Albany. The next itinerary possibly will be announced tomorrow. Unless there are eleventh hour changes, it will start in North Carolina early next week at Raleigh, the state capital and continue through Chattanooga, Tenn.; Louisville, Ky.; Sedalia, Mo.; Chicago and Cleveland, with probably Baltimore thrown in at the start or at the end of the journey.

61 Votes in Border States.

Some of the border states, that is, Maryland, Kentucky, Tennessee, Oklahoma and Missouri are necessary to the Smith candidacy if it is to be successful. He can lose some of them and still win. Should he lose them all not even the most optimistic Democrat believes that the New York governor will be going anywhere except back to private life next November.

There are 114 electoral votes in the solid south, in states which never have given their electoral vote to a Republican presidential candidate and which Democratic leaders are counting upon despite all Republican claims and "bear stories."

The five border states of Maryland, Kentucky, Tennessee, Oklahoma and Missouri, count 61 more, or 175 in all.

Chicago Date Oct. 16 or 17.

Such an itinerary would take the Democratic nominee into every border state where the issue is admittedly doubtful, North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri and Maryland. He already has appeared in Oklahoma.

A tentative date of October 16 or 17 already has been decided upon for Chicago.

The Ohio date was hanging in mid-air today, with the choice lying between Cleveland and Columbus.

The former city may ultimately be chosen because of its larger size and the fact that in 1924 it was one of the few major cities of the country to be carried by the La Follette independent ticket.

The old La Follette vote is very close to the Democratic management's heart. Governor Smith has spent the last two weeks in the northwest trying to capture it.

Seeks Victory Along Seaboard.

Normally the states are Democratic. This year for various reasons, principally religious and prohibition, they are doubtful. The line of figuring leaves the Democrats still 89 electoral votes short of electing their man. Those 89 votes can be found in New York's 45; Massachusetts's 18; Rhode Island's 5; Connecticut's 7 and New Jersey's 14.

Consequently, any loss in the normally Democratic border states must be made up by the capture of a corresponding number of electoral votes west of the Mississippi river.

Publicly, of course, the Democratic managers will not admit the possibility of losing any of the border states. Privately, they see the possibility of losing several. And in that event, they are figuring upon several states west of the Mississippi making up the difference.

WAR VETS O. K. BOND PROPOSAL

Private Eddy Post Endorses Two City Issues.

The proposed $160,000 city hall and the $100,000 fire station bond issues, which will be submitted to a vote of the electors at November 5 election, were endorsed by Private Eddy post, No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at a recent session, it was announced today.

The resolution, signed by Homer E. Campbell, commander, and Charles A. Rose, adjutant, follows:

"Whereas, council of the city of East Liverpool, Ohio, has passed the necessary legislation placing the proposition of issuing bonds in the amount of $160,000 for a new city hall and $100,000 for a new fire station before the electors of said city at the general election in November, and

"Whereas, Civic pride, government efficiency and economy make it imperative that these improvements be made in our city.

Therefore, be it resolved by Private Eddy post, No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars of America, in regular meeting assembled, that the aforesaid action of city council is regarded as designed to best serve the interests of our city and to promote the public peace and welfare, especially in the efficient and economical functioning of city government; and this body hereby pledges itself to co-operate with city officials and those interested in the movement to add necessary and essential improvements to our city and to use its support and influence in achieving success for said proposition at the polls.

"That copies of this resolution be sent by the adjutant to the East Liverpool Review and the clerk of city council."

This is the second organization to take action approving the bond issue, East Liverpool post No. 4, American Legion, having endorsed the movement about a week ago.

Mose Haines, Jimmy James, and Tillman Jones, all negroes, are the Mansfield prisoners. All were convicted of violations of the Harrison narcotic act, in connection with an alleged dope ring at Mansfield. Haines, the supposed leader, is under sentence of two years and four months at Atlanta. James and Jones were each sentenced to 18 months.

Orin Perrin, Akron, convicted of violation of the motor vehicle act prohibiting interstate transportation of stolen automobiles, and who is under a 15 months' sentence, was also among the crowd of prisoners.

"PLEASURE MAN" GOES TO COURT

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—When Mae West wrote her play, "Pleasure Man," she didn't put any court room scenes in it. She didn't have to. The courts took care of that themselves.

The next court room scene is set for today, when the author of "Sex" and other torrid dramas is to appear with the case of "Pleasure Man" to answer charges based on the two raids which preceded the closing of the play.

The second raid on the play was ordered yesterday by Mayor Walker after the appellate division of the supreme court had vacated an injunction obtained by Miss West which would have prevented further police action until tomorrow.

As a result of the mayor's order the performance was stopped in dramatic fashion just before the climax of the matinee, and 49 members of the company, including 15 female impersonators, were rushed to the police station in patrol wagons. Bail was obtained after several hours.

Hurst Keeps Squad In Top Form For New Philly Engagement

Grid Battle to Feature Dedication of New Park

Regulars Given Only One Scrimmage Drill This Week to Preclude Further Injuries; "Cripples" Improve.

Joe Hurst, high school grid coach, a native of New Philadelphia, will trot out his East Liverpool squad before the gaze of fans of "the old home town" Saturday and, realizing the importance of the occasion, is leaving no stone unturned in practice sessions this week to have the Potters in the peak of condition for the skirmish with the Red and Black.

The locals will be among the featured participants in ceremonies for the dedication of the new $17,000 athletic field at Tuscora park to which Governor Vic Donahay, himself a New Philadelphian, has been invited.

The varsity squad was given a stiff scrimmage workout Tuesday but, in all probability, will get no more of that sort of thing prior to the New Philly engagement. Injuries can occur in scrimmages as well as in regular games and Hurst wants to go into New Philadelphia with as small a hospital list as possible.

Tackle Wooley and Quarterback Skidmore are recovering from leg injuries and both will probably be used

GRID TICKETS ON SALE HERE

In order to facilitate the movement of fans at the East Liverpool-New Philadelphia game Saturday at New Philly, tickets for the contest have been placed on sale here by Faculty Manager Decker.

Adult admissions will be one dollar, the extra tax being imposed on account of the dedication ceremonies. Student tickets will be sold at the same price, however, $5c. East Liverpool faculty members will be on the gate at New Philly to identify East Liverpool students.

The pasteboards can be obtained at Heimes, Smith News, or from Decker.

Saturday, Wooley's ankle is still sore but he is capable of using it while Skidmore called signals in last night's workouts.

The second and third teams did the scrimmaging last night while the varsity outfit devoted its attention chiefly to several new aerial plays.

Some likely looking material appears to be developing from the second team, notably Bowen and Small, backs, and Crawford at tackle, as well as others.

The New Philly outfit should be capable of smart football, if they are able to absorb their coaches' teachings. The Red and Black is being handled this fall by Craine, former Oberlin and Amherst athlete and last year coach at Cleveland Heights, Zwick, all-Ohio man at Oberlin, is his assistant.

Like the locals, New Philly has split even in two games played to date, losing to Toronto, 12-0, and defeating Wooster, 6-0.

However, the class of opposition met by the Potters thus far has been considerably tougher than New Philly.

According to present arrangements, the local squad will make the trip to New Philly in two busses, chartered from the Akron-Pittsburgh line. Approximately 28 players will be taken.

Soph Star Eligible For Chicago Lineup

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Sophomore Cushman, who appears to be the class of Chicago's line, became eligible today and will make his debut against Wyoming Saturday. He plays tackle. Weaver may also become eligible in time to play the Mountaineers.

Northwestern Loses Pair of Grid Stars

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 4.—Northwestern will be minus two of its best half backs in the game against Butler Saturday. "Hank" Bruder was buried beneath a pile of man-eating freshmen in scrimmage and carried from the field, badly bruised. Levison is also out.

Midlanders Crippled for Chester Game

Squad Hit Hard by Injuries and Ineligibility.

MIDLAND, Pa., Oct. 4.—With but one more day remaining after today in which to hold practice sessions for the game Saturday with the Chester, W. Va., High School football team, at Chester, Coach W. P. Lomond, mentor of the Blue and Gold Lincoln high school football team, is quite downhearted over the prospects of a win. One stellar member of the Midland eleven will be lost to the team for several weeks at least, and perhaps for the entire season as the result of injuries sustained last Saturday in the game with New Brighton high school at Midland; two or three others may be kept out of the game Saturday because of more minor injuries, and about a half dozen other gridders, two varsity men and four second stringers, are ineligible to participate in the Chester game because they are down in their studies.

Because of a cracked collar bone, sustained last Saturday, "Bill" Spisak, star halfback of the Blue and Gold team, will be unable to play for several weeks at least, and it is Coach Lomond's greatest fear that he will be out of the Midland lineup for the remainder of the season. Then, to make matters worse, Howard Alston, fullback, is down in his studies and will probably hold down a bench position at Chester, while James McKinnon, whom Coach Lomond has been priming as a substitute for the colored flash, is also down in his grades and will be ineligible.

Furthermore, Miles Germanovich, tackle, who has plenty of luck—all bad—is suffering from an injury to his right hip and it is very doubtful if he will break into the game Saturday. Miles received a broken collar bone in the second game last season and was lost to the team for the rest of the year.

Aside from the several other boys who are down in their studies, the team is intact and Lomond is trying hard to whip enough substitutes into shape to fill the breach Saturday.

Allan Given Place With Cornell Backs

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Allan has replaced Beck in the Cornell varsity backfield. The squad contended itself with signal drill, passing and punting because of the unusually warm weather.

Crimson Regulars Trample Freshmen

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 4.—The Harvard varsity scored four touchdowns against the freshman team in the first real scrimmage. Martin and Grant bore the brunt of the varsity attack, the former scoring after an 80-yard run.

Two Yankee Series Aces

Clubs From "Old Men's Home" And "City Hospital" to Clash

Cardinal Diamond Patriarchs Matched With Yankee Cripples in Big Series.

By Les Conklin.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—"Don't hit an old man" and "never pick on a cripple" are part of most everybody's code, but we fear that these commendable ethics are due to be atrociously violated at the Yankee stadium this afternoon when the nines representing the old men's home and the city hospital ward clash, have at it, meet, cross bats, play, or if you prefer, oppose each other. For eight members of the Cardinals are more than thirty years old, rather aged in a baseball sense, and six players are on New York's hospital list with injuries of varying degrees.

As far as the Cardinals are concerned, baseball is like golf—an old man's game. Alexander is 41, Mitchell, 37; Haines, 35, and Sherdel, 32. And these hurlers are counted upon to shoulder practically all of the pitching burden.

Injuries of Pennock, Combs, Lazzeri, Ruth, Koenig and Gehrig comprise the Yankee grief. Pennock and Combs are out like communists at a Wall street melon-cutting. When Lazzeri tries to pivot and throw the ball to first to complete a double play, his wing hurts like an arm getting the third hypodermic needle at an army training camp.

Ruth, standing at the plate with all his weight on one foot to ease the strain on his bum knee, experiences all the sensations of a duffer trying to attain a correct stance for a drive out of a pit of quicksand.

Koenig, with a stone bruise on his heel, will be cavorting around the bases with all the speed of an ice wagon.

Gehrig is minus three teeth as the result of being kissed by a baseball in Detroit. It was his hardest knock since the time he tried to ram his cranium through a goal post in scoring a touchdown for dear old Columbia.

With piles of bandages and Ruth's leg braces clattering up the landscape, the New York dugout resembles a first-aid station on the border of No Man's Land. No wonder Huggins sent Wait Hoyt to Buffalo to take an examination for a license as mortician and embalmer!

Combs will be available for duty as a pinch runner. But unfortunately he won't get a chance to utilize his legs until Cedric Durst, Ben Lyon Paschal or some of the other substitutes get to first base.

Speaking of injuries, the Cardinals must have been dieting on apples. The club has paid out to doctors just about as much money as a Scotchman spends for caviar in a year's time. Young Wait Roettger is their only casualty, and that pale but interesting invalid is reported to be ready for service as a pinch hitter.

Several old scores may be settled before the old men and the cripples are finished with each other. The Yanks are pitching to give old Pete Alexander the works in payment for the two defeats he handed them in 1926. Especially Lazzeri and Ruth, whom Alex whiffed in the pinches.

And Wee Willie Sherdel wants two victories. Small William contributed a pair of certified grade A performances against the Husmen two years ago, but lost both games because of Pennock's even better pitching.

Local Gridder Starring With Kenyon Squad

Bob Dawson Field General of Coach Clash's Eleven.

Bob Dawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Dawson of West Ninth street, is distinguishing himself this fall with the Kenyon college eleven.

Dawson, a junior, and a graduate of East Liverpool high school with the class of 1921, is regarded by Coach Clash of Kenyon as one of his best backfield bets. Dawson has done some spectacular work in dropping and passing.

He has shown plenty of speed as a ball totter and a good head as field general at quarterback, a number of trick plays having been built around his fleetness.

Kenyon's lone touchdown in last Saturday's game with Kent Normal was made on a 35-yard pass by the East Liverpool boy.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 4.—Coach Zuppke has promoted reserve back Claude Myers to the Illini varsity string as a result of injuries to Frank Walker.

Quarter-Million "Gate" Is Possible As Series Rivals Grapple

Yankees Even Money Bet For Opener in Stadium

Dollar-for-dollar on Lid-lifter With Hoyt on Slab; But 7 to 5 on Cardinals is Figure for Series.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, October 4.—As the light of a new day fell, pale and cheerless, upon a world that slept, unmindful of its crisis, the inevitable game huddled in the lee of the Yankee Stadium wall this morning and probably mustered a tolerant amusement for the bawling and the likes of those who stood last night at the doors of the missions. Derelicts, human driftwood without a purpose in life. They had waited only for bread and a place to sleep. But those at the stadium gates at least were waiting for something important.

They were waiting for the opening game of the 1928 world series between the Yankees and the Cardinals and naturally an all-night vigil was as nothing to the reward that was to be theirs when the gates opened at 10 o'clock.

The presence of these faithful sentinels of the night gave mute warning that baseball's annual brainstorm again was upon us. However, the storm signals were flying on every front, what with downtown hotels crowded to the lobby exists and the up and down town ticket speculators overrunning the premises. There wasn't a first class room to be had, unless you had a certified reservation; there wasn't a reserved seat to be had, unless you were willing to go for a net loss of $50 for a three-game ticket that once retailed at $16.50. In brief, New York was in the clutches of the annual vortex, only this time the general tensi was worse, if anything.

Given favorable weather, and the forecast was for blue skies and mild temperatures, it was the prevailing conclusion that the greatest crowd in world series history would attend. At least 75,000 were expected in the stands at 1:30 this afternoon when the affair was scheduled to be called into action and, if the local fire department proved amenable to suggestion, additional standing room for 5,000 more might be made available.

World's series financial records were established in 1926 when the same teams played to a total of more than $1,207,000. Conservative estimates, based on the increased capacity of the stadium, place the probable "gate" for the 1928 affair at about $1,250,000.

Yankees Badly Crippled.

Seldom has any club entered a world series with a lack of physical condition that is supposed to be the lot of the Yankees. Pennock, their key-pitcher, is definitely out of consideration with neuritis in his pitching arm; Lazzeri, their second baseman, is to operate mostly on nerve alone; Combs, their center fielder, will be out of action altogether, barring the possibility of being called upon as a pinch runner. It wasn't surprising, therefore, that those who make books on this thing offered the Cardinals at 7 to 5 two days ago and showed a disposition last night to make these odds even more attractive.

For as matters stood, the Cards had the better of the all-important pitching situation, with Sherdel, Alexander and Haines, the 1926 heroes, ready to go again; they had superior catching and infield defense and, in a pinch, could muster greater speed, both in attack and on defense. The only advantage conceded the Yankees was superior power on offense. That, as a matter of fact, couldn't be taken away from them, with Ruth, Gehrig, Lazzeri and Meusel having given credible evidence of a return to form during the dying weeks of the American league campaign.

Dope Upset Possible. World series history is rife with upsets, however, and the writer doesn't mind saying that he sees the possibility of another here. Yankee hitting makes this possibility live—at least until further notice. The only time one really can afford to discount this punch is when one has all the boys out.

In one respect, the Yanks were an

PERFECT DAY FOR OPENER

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The first day of the 1928 world's series dawned bright and fair. A slight mist of early morning, while chilled the fans waiting in line outside the Yankee stadium, had entirely disappeared by 8 o'clock. The weather was warmer than for two weeks past, and a perfect afternoon was promised by the government forecaster.

Little World's Series Clash Is Postponed

Rival Managers Plan no Change in Hurlers.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 4.—The postponement of yesterday's game does not mean a change in pitchers for today's game, according to the two managers of the teams playing in the little world's series here.

"I will pitch Frank McCracken," said Southworth, of Rochester, this morning.

"I intend to pitch Carl Boone," said Bruno Betzel of the Indians.

After the postponement of yesterday's game on account of rain the fans supposed that Swetonic again would pitch for Indianapolis and Herman Bell would again try to win for Rochester. But the managers said no. With Swetonic in the box today it would afford an opportunity for one pitcher to win four games in a single series. But Swetonic said he didn't intend to pitch.

Tom McMahon Will Referee F. O. E. Battles

Former Heavy "Hope" Third Man in Ring Monday.

Tom McMahon, Midland policeman, will be the third man in the ring when Andy Tomasky and Tony Norman, bantams, meet over the eight-round route Monday night at the Eagles' arena.

McMahon at one time was one of the leading "white hopes" during the reign of Jack Johnson.

He claims a victory over Jess Willard in a fight less than a year before Willard won the title. He also fought Gunboat Smith, Carl Morris, Fred Fulton, Jack Geyer and other "hopes" of that era. Sam Langford was the only one of the lot to get a real decision over McMahon.

The shopmen copped by a 60-pin margin, the biggest part of which they amassed in the final game. There was only an 11-pin difference prior to the wind-up engagement.

Larkins and Coffee Win Coveted Berths on Varsity.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 4.—A temporary division of the football forces at Ohio State University into "Varsity" and "Reserve" squads has been made by Head Coach J. W. Wilce. This division has been made, however, merely to facilitate the operation of the two teams that the Buckeyes will put on the field this year and does not remove the possibility of a man being shifted from one group to another at any time.

On the present Varsity squad are Chester Glasser, Youngstown; Fred Barratt, Lansing, Mich.; Charles Coffee, Salem; R. Larkins, East Liverpool; Arthur Huston, Findlay; Byron Eby, Chillicothe; W. Fesler, Youngstown; Theo. Hieronymus, Columbus; William Griffith, Cleveland; George Fouch, Columbus; Allen Holman, Fairfield, I.; Ralph Idle, Wapakoneta; Howard Kriss, Cleveland; Sam Selby, Middletown; Donald McClure, Toledo; Laverne Rebolet, Dayton; R. Wilce Will Work Them Hard.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 4.—Coach Jack Wilce of Ohio State university is expected to continue his program of strenuous training the candidates for the Ohio State football team today and the remainder of this week in preparation for the clash with Wittenberg Saturday.

Several of the Ohio candidates who have been on the hospital list for the past week were back in uniform for the practice yesterday afternoon. Included in the number back in uniform yesterday were Howard Kriss, of Cleveland, halfback; Lawton Fontaine, Akron, end; Fred W. Barrett, Lansing, Mich., center, and Harold Kruskamp, Wellston, fullback. Kriss, Barrett and Kruskamp were out from the practices with leg injuries and Fontaine with stomach trouble.

The varsity team at the scrimmage yesterday was practically the same which defeated the reserves Saturday. Allen Holman, Fairfield, La.; Byron Eby, Chillicothe, Robert Horn, Columbus, and Lincoln Cory, Coon Rapids, Ia., filled the backfield positions. Richard Larkins, of East Liverpool, replaced Barrett at center in the scrimmage session.

Romance in New York

By GILBERT ROGERS

CHAPTER 29.

Adrian Martin and Carlotta—together! Sally pondered about that when Jerry had gone. Adrian Martin must know that Carlotta was somehow mixed-up with the man who had blackmailed him.

But did he? The furtive way Shevlin came and went, his definite desire to keep out of the limelight, might have prevented that. Mrs. Brooke's social position did not extend to Shevlin at least. He prowled on the outskirts of the world of fashion, seeking unsavory things like a jackal.

Coming down to dinner that evening Sally felt that she must break this tension between Carlotta and herself.

"I'm too terribly happy to want anyone in the world to hate me," she sighed. "Everything ought to be perfect."

Mary Trelaw sat watching the two women, as if he knew what it was that had caused their deep estrangement.

In the bitter silence of the meal, Sally said at last: "I was planning to go in a day or two. But if—if you don't want me here now, why?"

For the first time since the quarrel, Carlotta spoke. "Oh, suit yourself," she said with a hard little laugh. Sally felt acutely uncomfortable—like an uninvited guest. She made the resolve to hurry Jerry all she could. Perhaps even tomorrow, things would be settled, finished. One more day—she could stay that long. But she couldn't have stayed a single instant if she hadn't guessed that underneath it all Carlotta still liked her. Underneath her silences and sullenness, there was no real rancor. One more day, just one more day—she could go through that, uncomfortable as it made her feel.

"Staying where I'm not wanted" thought Sally. "How can I possibly be doing anything like that? But I am—I've got to."

The phone, and Jerry on it.

"I'm going to take a couple of hours out tomorrow, because of course we're got to see each other. We might swim. I'll pick you up—after lunch. Yes. Tomorrow night I've got to go to Providence. Oh, no I'll be back the next day. . . . Yes, I think by the next day. Do you still love me? . . . What's that? I don't care if people can hear. I want everybody to hear you! Do you still love me?"

"How could I love anyone so silly."

"I don't know!"

"But I do."

"Ah!"

So then it was just a matter of getting through the night and the next morning. Night was nice, because you'd lie in bed and think and dream and remember tones and little funny gestures and all the things that had been said and what they meant.

At two o'clock in the afternoon, Jerry rattled up in the old Ford.

It made such a violent banging and clattering that Jerry shook his head.

"Seems like this poor old thing was trying to sing its swan song. . . . Look at me and tell me you love me."

Half way to the beach, he suddenly swung the car around.

"Forgot my bathing-suit," he explained. "Won't take a second." And turning in at the Farrington driveway, they came upon Mabel, his cousin, a pair of garden shears in one hand and some flowers in the other.

She smiled, but she looked a little pale, Sally thought. While Jerry ran inside to get his bathing things, Mabel stood close to the car, chatting, about nothing. She had grave, sweet manners. Sally felt drawn to her. She remembered what she had seen. But there was nothing to be read in Mabel's face. Perhaps she had been mistaken in thinking that Mabel was in love with her cousin.

That, all at once, for no reason at all, the girl's mouth dropped and she look unutterably miserable. The flowers fell from her hand in a little spray.

She bent down to pick them up. Her shoulders were shaking. When she lifted her head, she could not meet Sally's eyes. Then she faltered:

"I—I want to hate you, but I can't. I can't!"

Sally thought of Carlotta Brooke who had not found it difficult to hate her, but Carlotta Brooke and this girl were two very different people.

She felt unfair, unkind, and deeply sympathetic. "I'm sorry," was all Sally could say. "I'm awfully sorry."

Mabel turned her head away quickly as Jerry came down the steps. As the Ford rattled out through the gates, another car came gliding through. Sally recognized a sallow face, a mouth from which drooped a cigarette.

"It's Glenn!" Jerry muttered. "That sap! And Mabel—will you believe me?—is crazy about him!"

Sally looked at him half ironically. Perhaps it was just as well for women that men were so blind. . . .

"Why are you silent? Anything the matter?" He looked anxiously at her.

"Not a thing. I was just thinking."

The water was clear and delicious, and they had the beach to themselves at that hour.

They splashed and swam and shouted, and Jerry plashed water at her until she was angry. And then became so humble and stricken that she wanted him to do it all over again.

"Watch me fetch! . . ." With a Zoom! he went in headfirst, with long powerful strokes, his arms looking like the bronze arms of statuary.

And afterwards they raced up the beach, and laughed together, and kissed each other under the shelter of a point of sand and grass.

"Oh, must I ever get old," Sally thought. "Can't this go on forever and forever—this feeling I could last out anything. Why it's like being a part of things, of the sea and the sky and everything."

Slowly the light began to fade, and out of the sea came dull crimson hues that stained the horizon. They went back to the bath-houses to dress. Sally felt wonderfully languid and yet strong. He took her in his arms again and kissed her in the shadowy corridor.

"Nothing can ever part us, can it?" he asked. He looked at her with the solemn worried gaze of a boy.

"Nothing," she said. Oh, nothing ever could, nothing.

And yet two hours later—after Jerry had left her at Mrs. Brooke's door, he rushed off for the Providence rain—two hours later in the quiet house, the phone rang and Sally's happiness was gone like the golden ay.

"Long distance. . . . Hold the wire, please. . . . Just a minute. . . . Go ahead."

Then another voice, an unforgettable, harsh voice, hevlm speaking!

CHAPTER 30.

Yes, it was Dan Shevlin on the wire, Dan Shevlin as cool and cynical as ever. Asking the impossible in a matter-of-fact voice.

"Hello. . . . Sally? Got you first thing, eh? Carlotta here? . . . No, I don't want to speak to her, I want to speak to you."

"About what?"

"Don't waste time, little one. This is a long distance call and you mustn't be extravagant. . . . Been thinking about you. Lots. Come down tonight. You can get the apt. And you'll be here tomorrow. You can come up the apartment. You've made up your mind, of course?"

She wanted to click down the receiver, to cut him off, at somehow she hesitated.

"Do you think I would?" she managed to say. "Don't you think I meant what I said the other day?"

There was a long silence. Then far across that distance she heard his laugh.

"You'll find my address in the phone book. If I should happen to be out, just go in and make yourself comfortable. If I don't see you—I don't mean hear from you, I mean see you—by seven o'clock tomorrow evening, you can count as certain, there'll be a letter in the mail for Jerry Evresham. Now, don't be a fool, Sally."

McLAGLEN STARS IN "RIVER PIRATE"

A cast of screen favorites including Victor McLaglen in the title role and Lois Moran, Earle Foxe, Neil Stuart and Donald Crisp in featured parts, help make "The River Pirate," now at the Ceramic theater, one of the season's great pictures.

Editor Frank, Marjorie Cullen, Detective Caxon, Shark, Andy, Gopher and the rest of the colorful characters in that fascinating story have come to life. They are just as their author Charles Francis Coe pictured them, too, for Coe accepted Fox Films invitation to act in an advisory capacity, which they made a screen version of his novel.

Victor McLaglen plays the part of Krink, which alone should be sufficient guarantee that this picture will please the patrons of the Ceramic.

"OUR DANCING DAUGHTERS" WINS

What is wrong with the present generation?

"Our Dancing Daughters," now at the American theatre, shows two sides to this very modern question.

And the answers supplied in this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature show that if indeed, youth is to be criticised, the parents themselves are in no position to voice the censure.

The theme in this modernistic production which Harry Beaumont directed from an original story from the pen of Josephine Lovett, is based upon environment. Children, the plot shows, usually reflect the circumstances of their home life.

Three very modern young women provide the motivation for the swiftly-moving film narrative, and in these roles Joan Crawford, Dorothy Sebastian and Anita Page bring to the screen splendid characterizations of three types of flapperhood.

John Mack Brown is the young man whose affections and millions occupy the attentions of Miss Crawford and Miss Page in the filmization of the ultra-modern story, and Nils Asther, as Miss Sebastian's husband, gives a striking portrayal as the husband.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS
NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The motor and steel stocks went on a bullish rampage at the beginning of trading today. Furious bidding for Chrysler, Reo, Mack Trucks, White Motors, Briggs and Murray Body, Packard and Hudson sent prices flashing upward two to four points and the establishment of a new high level of prices for the motor group. Victor Talking raced up eight points, to above 120 in the first 15 minutes. Bethlehem Steel led the bears a merry chase, with the stock bounding along to above 63 for a three-point gain.
The Wall street gloom-chasers made a clean sweep of the bearish sentiment that has been accumulating in Wall street since Monday. Bullish pools in the speculative favorites plainly showed their contempt for the "cautionary expressions" of the bankers assembled in Philadelphia for the annual convention, and a flood of buying orders broke off their feet. Chrysler sold into new high price territory above 120 in an unusually heavy turnover. Merger talk involving Mack Trucks, White and Reo was revived as stocks of their companies soared in active trading. Briggs Manufacturing sold up nearly five points to 60, in continuation of its meteoric market record that has carried the price up about 30 per cent in a month. Gillette topped 120 for a new high record. Universal Pipe held the record among the cheap specialties. Barnsdall Class A led a brilliant move in the oil and reached a new high above 37. Coppers were strong and rails inactive.

One Spoonful Would Fill A Market Basket!

HERE IS a secret for the benefit of one's inner system. There is as much good to a single spoonful of plain pepsin syrup as in a whole basket of fresh vegetables! You have heard how modern men fail to assist the peristaltic action important to health. Make this up with a little syrup pepsin, and elimination pick up! It ought to improve in a week, according to some doctors.
Don't give up rich foods, or go on a diet when this liquid vegetable corrective can put stomach, liver, and bowels in condition to handle anything that's eaten! Without the sign of distress, or a fear of constipation. You don't have to purge yourself to keep the digestive tract all clean and sweet. A ten-day test of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will prove this.
